II. SUMMARY OF EVIDENCE<sup>2</sup>

COPA reviewed all relevant reports including arrest reports, original case incident report, Detective supplementary report, event query reports, Evidence Technician/personal photos, and Ms. Statement and medical records. No digital evidence was available to COPA as the District was not assigned Body Worn Cameras until November 26, 2017.

III. LEGAL STANDARD

For each Allegation COPA must make one of the following findings:

- 1. Sustained where it is determined the allegation is supported by a preponderance of the evidence;
- 2. Not Sustained where it is determined there is insufficient evidence to prove the allegations by a preponderance of the evidence;
- 3. Unfounded where it is determined by clear and convincing evidence that an allegation is false or not factual; or
- 4. Exonerated where it is determined by clear and convincing evidence that the conduct described in the allegation occurred, but it is lawful and proper.

A preponderance of evidence can be described as evidence indicating that it is more likely than not that the conduct occurred and violated Department policy. See Avery v. State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Co., 216 Ill. 2d 100, 191 (2005), (a proposition is proved by a preponderance of the evidence when it has found to be more probably true than not). If the evidence gathered in an investigation establishes that it is more likely that the misconduct occurred, even if by a narrow margin, then the preponderance of the evidence standard is met.

Clear and convincing evidence is a higher standard than a preponderance of the evidence but lower than the "beyond-a-reasonable doubt" standard required to convict a person of a criminal offense. See e.g., People v. Coan, 2016 IL App (2d) 151036 (2016). Clear and Convincing can be defined as a

&lt;sup>2</sup>COPA conducted a full and complete investigation of this matter, including the interview of all pertinent civilian and officer witnesses, and the collection and review of digital, documentary, and forensic evidence. As part of COPA's ongoing efforts to increase case closure capacity, certain cases opened under IPRA are summarized more succinctly in a Modified Summary Report of Investigation, pursuant to COPA Guideline Modified Summary Report of Investigation Template and Approvals, effective February 13, 2019.

Officer
Allegation #1 that Officer pulled Ms. s hood over her head and forced he against a squad car is Exonerated. In her statement to IPRA, Ms. admitted to spitting and being non-compliant during her arrest, by pulling away from Officers and and the Petthe Department Use of Force Model, Ms. s actions identify her as an Active Resister Based on the aforementioned, Officer is sused the minimum force necessary to gain control of Ms. and were within Department policy.	ig er r.
Allegation #2, that Officer bit Ms. on her shoulder is Unfounded. Ms s hood was covering her face at the time she felt pressure on her shoulder. When Ms was asked to describe the pressure to her shoulder she stated, "It felt like a bite." Ms is not sure if she was bitten and only speculated she was bitten. Photographs of Ms show what appears to be a red abrasion on her shoulder. However, it must be taken int consideration that Ms. did jump from a moving vehicle as she fled from the police Furthermore, Ms. made no mention of being bitten until three days after the incident, a which time she was re-photographed. Although Ms. made this allegation, there is no evidence to support her speculation that the red abrasion was caused from a human bite.	s. s. o
